

KINGDOM CHRONICLES FROM HOUSE OF PRAYER

January 17, 2024

- Words for Chronicle Titled: “Our Generation”
  - Thank you, Yahweh, for claiming us as your own—Psalm 24:1
  - Those who dwell therein—Psalm 24:1
  - May ascend unto the hill of the Lord—Psalm 24:3
  - Lift up your heads—Psalm 24:7, Galatians 6:1
  - Let the King of Glory come in—Psalm 24:9, 4, Zechariah 7:14
  - Forgive them, Lord, for they know not what they do—Psalm 24:3
  - Let them hear—Isaiah 28:10-12
  - Receive the blessing of the Lord—Psalm 24:4
  - The generation that seeks him—Psalm 24:6
  - We pause in your presence, Lord, and we receive your embrace—Psalm 24:6, 10
- “Our Generation” Chronicles:
  - Thank you, Yahweh, for claiming us as your own; for giving us life and providing all we need to live life to the fullest. May those that dwell in that sanctuary of safety ascend into the hill of the Lord, with great confidence. Lift up your heads, you who belong to him and let the King of Glory come in. Lord, forgive us all when we do not hear your voice, for we know not what we do. And for those that do not know how to hear your voice, we ask that you would open their ears to the truth that they might hear the pure gospel of truth and receive the blessing of the Lord. Lord, let us rise up and be called the generation that seeks you, the ones that pause in your presence to receive your embrace. In Jesus’ name. Amen.
  - We thank you, Yahweh, for claiming us as your own for you are the Lord of hosts and the King of Glory. May those who dwell therein find the grace and peace and love of the Lord as we seek your face to develop a pure heart. And may we ascend unto the hill of the Lord as we walk in your blessing and your righteousness. As you beckon us, “Lift up your heads,” we respond, “Let the King of Glory come in our hearts and lives as we invite you to come into our church.” As we seek your face for clean hands, we say, “Forgive them, Lord, for they know not what they do.” As we walk in a place of humility and forgiving others, we ask you, Lord, to let them hear around us and let us hear more clearly your still, small voice so that we may receive the blessing of the Lord. We pray that we will become the generation who seeks him daily and without compromise. And now, we pause in your presence, Lord; and we receive your embrace as we humbly bow before you and as we delight in the Lord of hosts, our King of Glory. Amen.
- Dan Hanselman's Prophetic Word: Psalm 24:6—And as we seek you Lord, we can lift up our heads. We can open the gates because there is no resistance because we have no shame in you. So, rise, arise, you watchmen, watchmen on the wall. Raise up the gates, watch over the gates. You are in charge of those gates of the city, of your county, of your churches, of your shepherd—each and every one. And you can open and shut those doors to let the King of Glory in, or keep him out; but we choose to open the ancient doors and allow the King of Glory to come in. For the King of Glory shall come forth in power and might, and we will not be subject to the roar of Satan any longer; but we will hear the roar of the lion of Judah, over us, strengthening us, and encouraging us. We are the children of the most-high God, and we take our stand. We are not just servants, but we are his friends, and we do his bidding because we want to, not because we have to. So, arise, oh Lord, arise and let your spirit flow through us in a more powerful way as we release the gate to let him come in and open the door of our hearts that we can release your love to others around about us. In Jesus’ mighty name, amen.