2. The Raising Up of the Humble Is a Living Expression Chronicles:

- During the hour of incense of prayer, the Lord has remembered those unable to speak, the unborn. As we are waiting, we know you will reign Lord. Our testimony will be joy and gladness as we see that the unborn are blameless. Our nation will be highly favored as the handmaidens of the Lord fight for the unborn. Holy Conduct comes only from the sanctity of life. Hasten the day, oh Lord, for this court decision. Scatter the proud that do not treasure life. With you Lord your Kingdom will come to this nation.
- Lord, thank you for the hour of incense in our prayer time, and that the Lord has remembered us always. May we reach a point that we are unable to speak as we come to a place of humbly waiting on you. May we fast and pray always that you will reign throughout the earth and in all things. May our testimony be one of joy and gladness always; and may you find us blameless before you. Help us to come to the place that you can say we are highly favored as a handmaid of the Lord; and help us to walk in a place of holy conduct hastening the day of your return. As you have scattered the proud, may your kingdom come with great power in our quiet expectation of you.
- Lord, with fervent prayer we enter this hour of incense. Lord, please remind us that every prayer that your children have ever prayed that the Lord has remembered; even the ones that when we prayed, we were unable to speak. Lord, even in the waiting you reign, and you have given us the testimony of Jesus that has filled us with joy and gladness and made us blameless and highly favored people, like a handmaid of the Lord. Lord, let us humbly continue in holy conduct hastening the day when you will scatter the proud. Lord, let your kingdom come and let us enter into an eternal rest that has no end. In Jesus name.
