- “A Cry for Help as We Seek the Word of the Lord” Chronicles:
 - Father God, as we stand in your sanctuary tonight, we declare to the heavens, “Thou shalt keep them all that are on their sick bed because our confidence is in you the healer.” Father, because you preserve your word, we know your promise for healing will manifest at New Life Church. Let us be part of your movement to actively participate in revival in the streets of this region. We cry out to you, Lord, stretch us so that we will not be satisfied to sit passively during this season. “Watch closely, my children, because now I will arise and you will see my glory. It is because of my loving kindness that I will draw you close to me and heal your body. His truth can be tested during this season and will always prevail. Holy Spirit, fill us with your power as your kingdom comes down and you strike the ground.
 - Lord, thou shall keep them in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee. Who put their full trust and confidence in you; who preserves your word in their hearts? Lord, may their love and zeal for you spread forth as revival breaks out in the streets. Lord, do not leave us as we are, but dangerously stretch us. Now, “I will arise” saith the Lord, “for I hear the cry of my people. With lovingkindness I have drawn them. My truth is flawless and has been tested in my fire. So, as my people cry out, Holy Spirit, fill us, I will answer their cry with a fresh outpouring and declare watch my kingdom come down.” In Jesus’ name.
 - Lord, thou shalt keep them in your holy light; for we all know Satan wants to pull you into the night. Always put your confidence in him and never let it waver; for his light will always shine and show you favor. You preserve your word always throughout the ages; thank you, Jesus, for paying my sinful wages. Let there be revival in the streets all over the earth; as Jesus said, let there be millions that find their second birth. Stretch us, Lord, so that we can spiritually grow; build us, Jesus, for it is your seeds we shall spread and sew. I will now arise and shine my light upon your lands; never forget all the blessings that have been put into your hands. With lovingkindness I have drawn you near; always know that with him the darkest valley is free and clear. His truth is tested and found to be in the purest of form; call on him and he will be the safest port in the worst of any storm. Holy Spirit, fill us with your holy fire; never let Satan pull you down into his muck and mire. Blessed be the day thy kingdom comes down and rains over this humanly place; don't be one who will dread to look upon his holy face. Amen.
 - Lord, we release a cry for help as we seek the word of the Lord tonight on behalf of Kelly, Graham, Rachel, Jeff, JD, and all those in need. We know that thou shalt keep them, Lord, because our confidence in Him who sustains life will not waiver. You preserve your word as the book of life that will rain down revival in the streets as you stretch us, Lord. In the midst of our neediness, you have spoken tonight, "I will now arise and with loving kindness I have drawn you!" As the darkness and the wicked walk on every side we cry aloud, "Holy Spirit, fill us," as you respond and raise us up above the wiles of the enemy. And now we ask in closing, Lord, thy kingdom come down on earth as it is in heaven, and we say yes and amen as we believe your promises to us tonight.

- Prophetic Word from Dan Hanselman: I am stretching you. I'm stretching you so that you will believe. Believe that I am that I am; and that what has been spoken, I will accomplish. For you have asked, and I have heard. I have not put it to the side for no reason. This is a time in a season where I am drawing my people to greater faith, greater trust, greater willingness to keep pressing in even when they don't see things happen as they want them to happen in their timing. My time is always right and I am releasing my spirit upon those that are willing to receive and walk with me; those that are willing to hear my voice and move and not be moved by what they see in the natural. But they see in the spirit; they hear in the spirit. I am calling you forth. I am calling you out of deep waters for the enemy has loosed a flood. But I am the breaker: the one that splits the water that will not overtake you. I am with you; I am guiding you; and I am strengthening you. So, rise up. Rise up, do not be discouraged by what you see. But look at my kingdom for my kingdom is coming in a mighty powerful way. Just as I had my son teach his disciples when they asked. Call for heaven, my kingdom to come here on earth. Bring it down, bring it down, and watch what I do as you call it forth. I am moving. I am moving. I am not sitting still. Do not lose hope; do not be discouraged. I am there with you. For what you have asked, I am putting into effect, and I am releasing the angels on your behalf. For they have heard my words be loosed against the attacks of the enemy. The angels are on the move. So, strike around strike the ground, strike the ground. I am moving. Fill the earth; move for it is quaking. Yes, it's quaking because of the onslaught of the enemy; but my power is greater than the enemy. So, keep your eyes fixed on me. Keep your eyes holy unto me says the Lord.
